NEC DISPLAY APPOINTS JORGE DANTAS AS SENIOR DIRECTOR OF LATIN AMERICA

Company Capitalizing on Region's Continued Growth

CHICAGO – June 1, 2016 – NEC Display, a leading provider of commercial LCD display and projector solutions, announced today the appointment of Jorge Dantas as Senior Director of its Latin American business.

In this new position, Dantas brings a breadth of executive experience, encompassing business development, strategic planning and general management. Most recently, Dantas was the Senior Business Development Manager of NEC Europe, responsible for Europe, Middle East, and Africa. In that role, he spearheaded NEC's Enterprise Smart Workspace and Smart Datacenter Solutions.

"I am honored for this opportunity to grow NEC Display's Latin American business and bring our strategic-selling approach to this crucial market," Dantas said. "We will help companies solve business challenges across key industry sectors, and increase the value we deliver to channel partners and customers alike."

Before his tenure at NEC Europe, Dantas worked for Xpand 3D as Senior Vice President for the Americas and Country Manager for Brazil. He also has played key roles at NEC Brazil in support of NEC Display's digital cinema and display solutions businesses.

“Jorge brings the right mix of business leadership experience and marketplace knowledge to strengthen our display business and forge a platform business for new display applications,” said Todd Bouman, President and CEO of NEC Display Solutions. “As the provider of the most comprehensive set of display solutions across verticals, NEC is committed to harnessing the growth potential of Latin America with our innovation for business success.”
